

Introduction for Tanya Knight

It gives me great pleasure to introduce Tanya Knight

Take energy, enthusiasm, inspiration and fun, add to it intense interest and passion for education – mix it together – you’ve got Tanya Knight, America’s Education Coach and one of the country’s leading experts on student retention, recruitment, college admissions and student motivation.

With more than 10 years of experience in education and human services, Tanya Knight International aims to help millions of students, parents and colleges increase their success. Tanya has worked with high school and college students, parents and adult learners. She has also has extensive experience as a college Senior Admissions Officer and Director of Corporate Development. A beacon of motivation for her own accomplishments, Tanya has developed a resume of credentials that more than speaks for her success. Besides being a regular contributor for Education.com, Jacksonville.com, Yahoo.com, Hopeforwomenmag.com, Edutopia.org, Playgrounddad.com and The College World Reporter Magazine, Tanya was named as one of “17 Distance Learning Experts Worth Knowing About” by The Knowledge Maven.

Tanya knows what it takes to get into college, to stay there and to excel. As an Education Coach, Tanya works with students and families through the entire college planning process – which can range from months to years. She believes that college is an important life stage and requires focused guidance. Tanya has also helped colleges increase enrollment, student retention, and bottom lines. Through the development of long-term partnerships with schools and Fortune 500 companies, Tanya has built awareness and brand presence for colleges and their partners.

Tanya’s most recent book Who Says You Can’t Go To College? covers everything you need to know about getting into the college of your choice not matter where you or your child is in the college admissions process. You too can achieve your educational dreams!

Tanya’s aims to continuously educate students, parents and schools on the importance of Higher Education and to create solutions that will continuously benefit and improve our education system.

Today she is here to share these same principles and techniques with you.

Please join me in welcoming TANYA KNIGHT!!!
